AQUARIUM ENCOUNTERS

Coral Reef Snorkel - Coral reef encounters enable visitors to get in the water and be a part of the action in the thriving ecosystem that exists in our aquarium environment. These unique Encounters introduce our visitors to the reef environment in the best way possible, via immersion in our exclusive Coral Reef tank.

Stingray Cove – The Stingray Encounter enables visitors the ability to get in our shallow water tank with our diverse stingray species in a safe environment all with education from our professional marine biologist. During the encounter, our professional marine biologist will teach our visitors about the stingrays while the gentle rays explore the tanks within reach of you and your family. During the Florida Keys stingray encounter, visitors will be able to feed and pet stingrays when they come swim up on your lap, while on our underwater stingray bench. Please note that for the safety of our visitors, barbs are trimmed on all rays.

Big Shark Bay - During this encounter, our professional Marine Biologists are constantly on-hand to assist with every aspect of your Marathon shark feeding experience and, they will make sure you and your family has an outstanding experience! Please note that this Encounter at our Florida marine park attraction does not require our visitors to get in the water to interact with our friendly nurse sharks. This is a DRY encounter, so no need to wear a bathing suit! All members of the family can safely enjoy this Encounter from the comfort of our tank deck while touching and feeding the adult nurse sharks. All members of the family will love the hands-on interaction of this exclusive shark feeding encounter at our Marathon aquarium!

Nursery Encounter - In this exhibit we have several species of baby and juvenile rays. This encounter is for all ages, and our biologist custom tailors the interaction during the encounter to suit the needs and questions of your group. During this encounter at the aquarium, our professional Marine Biologists are constantly on-hand to assist with every aspect of your experience. They will make sure your family has an outstanding experience! Please note that this Encounter does not require our visitors to get in the water to interact with our friendly rays. This is a DRY encounter, so no need to bring a swimsuit! All members of the family can safely enjoy this Encounter from the comfort of dry land while sharing, feeding and touching the juvenile rays. All of our stingrays are de-barbed and completely safe to touch!
